Last Updated on: 13th September 2019 Q: How to make Custom widget context for _initState in StatefulWidget? I have a widget that has a StatefulWidget and I'm in need to pass the context of this Widget in _initState function. How can I do it? A: Just call the _context property of StatefulWidget. Example: class TabBarRedirectingNavigation extends StatefulWidget { @override _TabBarRedirectingNavigationState createState() => _TabBarRedirectingNavigationState(); } class _TabBarRedirectingNavigationState extends State { String title; @override void initState() { super.initState(); title = widget.title; } @override Widget build(BuildContext context) { return Scaffold(appBar: AppBar(title: Text(widget.title),),); } } "moment" that separates the two. If the boundary line is unchanged, then the two regions are identical. If the boundary line is moved, then the two regions are likewise identical.
